

Education

Content is accurate as of 20th March 2017

KPMG provides a variety of training and education programmes covering a range of topics such as accounting, financial services, technology and cyber security, people skills, and enterprise risk management. Our programmes help organisations and their professionals develop the knowledge and skills required to understand, adapt and benefit from today's ever-changing environment.

Our training professionals engage with our thought leaders, subject matter experts and key stakeholders to ensure content is fresh, relevant and accurate. Regulatory bodies and certification standards are taken into account to ensure all necessary requirements are met.

These programmes are offered through on-going courses, online learning and customised or bespoke training sessions.
