

Women in Aerospace, Defence & Intelligence

Champions for change

Women in Aerospace, Defence and Intelligence is a forum that seeks to highlight the impact of pioneering women, rising stars and champions of diversity across a variety of disciplines; bringing together specialists to provoke conversation on the policies, decisions and technologies that influence current events in this sector.

Our forum strives to be an inclusive, engaging and enjoyable opportunity to meet with others from industry, government, NGOs, academia and other areas of Aerospace, Defence and Intelligence – not only from the UK, but the international community as well.

We meet regularly in a mix of large panel events and small group discussions to share ideas and experiences which contribute to development of thought leadership on key diversity and inclusion issues.

Our mission

To celebrate the success of women in Aerospace, Defence and Intelligence, identify and recognise those who are active champions for change in this sector, and encourage discussion on promoting the progression of diversity and talent.

Principles

- To be a gender mixed forum of senior individuals and rising stars sharing best practice in a topic area.
- To host regular formal and informal events with both panel discussion on wider issues and subject specific thought leadership.
- To inclusively engage internationally across Industry, Military, Government & Academia.

KPMG Co-Chairs
