IFRS: New standards

Which standards are mandatory for your financial year?

How to read the chart

Find the start of your financial year on the timeline. Each standard shown is either effective for the first time or not yet effective but available for early adoption, depending on whether the line is solid or hollow.

If your financial year starts on 1 January 2017, then the standards from the disclosure initiative (amendments to IAS 7) to the 2014–2016 cycle of annual improvements (amendments to IFRS 12) are mandatory for the first time. The others are not yet mandatory in your annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2017.

Key

Standards not yet effective, but available for early adoption.
 Standards effective for the first time.

In this publication, the term 'standards' is used broadly to refer to new standards, and amendments to or interpretations of standards. It also assumes a financial year of 12 months.

Newly effective standards

The effective standards that need to be considered for financial years beginning on or after 1 January 2017 are listed below.

IASB effective date	Standards	EU effective date	KPMG's guidance	Key
1 January 2017	Disclosure Initiative (Amendments to IAS 7)	Not yet endorsed	Insights into IFRS (2.3.123), web article
